About us

Gottlieb Spine is an advanced orthopedic spine surgery center in Irving, Texas. Led by top-rated orthopedic surgeon Dr. Jamie Gottlieb, our spine specialists deliver top-notch care and individualized attention to every patient. We specialize in minimally invasive techniques and advanced surgical treatments to treat complex chronic and degenerative spine-related conditions such as spinal stenosis and ongoing neck and lower back pain.

Orthopedic Spine Center takes an integrative and multidisciplinary approach, combining multiple specialties, preventive, nonsurgical rehabilitation, and orthopedic surgery to alleviate your back and neck pain under one roof.

One of the most distinguished and experienced orthopedic spine doctors in Texas provides orthopedic care to everyone, regardless of age, gender, and specific spinal conditions. Our spinal surgeons use an evidence-based and time-tested approach to spine care, offering our surgical patients honest and open communication as a base for trusted doctor-patient relationships.

Our center is affiliated with the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center, the most prestigious surgery center in Texas, ranked as one of the 20 best hospitals in the nation.

The goal of our center is to effectively relieve symptoms of various spinal health issues, improve patients' health and well-being, and help them enjoy a pain-free life. Call Orthopedic Spine Center today to schedule a consultation or learn more about our outstanding practice.
